

Immigration

Entering America

One issue with immigration in America is getting a visa. Many individuals who are attempting to obtain a visa have to wait an excruciatingly painful amount of time. If the amount of time spent trying to get a visa was shortened, more people would have the opportunity to come to this country and have a better life.

Another issue with immigration in America are the laborious ways people must decamp our country. Each immigrant must obtain a visa or green card in order to enter our country. Once someone's visa expires, that individual must leave the country. Because of the desire to not vacate America, many personages have an expired visa.

The Border

The Sherman Party desires immigration reforms. We believe that America should have more of an open door policy. People should be able to visit our country and work in our country more easily than they can today. We believe the process to become a citizen should be simplified and shortened. Many individuals, who migrate from other countries, wish to become an American citizen. By shortening the amount of time spent on granting citizenship, we will have more citizens. These citizens can then be taxed and this will help reduce our national debt.

Our party would like to have more protection along America's borders. Police protection should be more visible and effective in this area to prevent people without documentation from entering our country. The increased number of police protection along the border will provide our country improved security as it will permit only law abiding individuals into our country. Increased border security is not the only thing that will increase safety in the country. Increased access to legal visas will also enhance protection and security of the citizens. Visas will only be offered to the immigrant who enter the country through legal channels. No illegal immigrant will be able to come to this country and use someone else's visa.

Illegal Immigration

When someone is determined to be an illegal immigrant in this country, they will receive a special letter. This letter will state that the individual has a set number of days to become a citizen and will outline the process for pursuing legal citizenship. If that person does not become a citizen within the expected time frame, there will be an immigration court case. During the immigration court case the illegal immigrant will be provided a lawyer and a translator. At court, the illegal immigrant must explain why he or she has not yet become a citizen. If the person shows genuine interest in becoming a citizen and has a legitimate reason as to why the citizenship process has not yet been completed, the person will be granted citizenship. If not, the person will be forced to leave America. Illegal immigrants should be given a warning about the expectation of pursuing citizenship legally. If they do not obey this legal requirement, they should deal with the consequences of their choices.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement

Our party would like Immigration and Customs Enforcement to be given more funding and personnel. We wish to make the process of obtaining legal citizenship faster, easier, and smoother. An increase in the funding and number of employees of Immigration and Customs Enforcement will increase the efficiency of granting citizenship to more people. Citizenship will allow these individuals to become a citizen and pay taxes. These taxes will help fund our country and contribute to it becoming a better place.
